

Do you have a story to tell that might interest other OBs? Why not write a short piece for inclusion in the summer edition of The Bulletin. Here are some ideas the Editors have thought of that might encourage you to write an article:

1. Who were you then? Tell us a little about the person you were at school: your hobbies and interests, your academic preferences, your friends, your character.

2. Who are you now? Tell us a little about what's changed!

3. A chance meeting with an OB? We'd love to hear of any surprise meetings with Old Birkonians, any interesting networking anecdotes or, alternatively, those you have kept in touch with.

4. Tell us about your school memories:

Finest moment

Fondest moment

Funniest moment

5. Five words to sum up your schooldays.

Articles would need to be with the editors by mid May.

They can be emailed to office@obs.org.uk
